ILLINOIS SESSION LAWS
1836

Many of the law books used by Abraham Lincoln have been preserved and are now treasured in the various collections of Lincolnia throughout the country.

In a group of law books used to illustrate the book, "Lincoln the Lawyer," by Frederick Trevor Hill, is shown a copy of the Session Laws for 1841, at one time in the office library of Logan & Lincoln. This copy is now owned by William H. Townsend, of Lexington, Kentucky.

The corporation is hereby empowered to purchase, receive and hold such real estate as may be necessary and convenient for accomplishing the objects for which this act of incorporation is granted; and may by their agents, surveyors and engineers, enter upon, and take possession of, and use all such lands and real estate and materials as may be indispensable for the construction and maintenance of their rail road or track way, and the accommodations and appurtenances required and appertaining thereto; and may also receive, hold and take, all such voluntary grants and donations of land and real estate, and materials, for the purpose of said road, as shall be made to the said corporation by the general or state government, or by any corporation, company, individual or individuals, to aid in the construction, maintenance and accommodation of said rail road or track way, completely vesting in said company and corporation, absolutely in fee simple, the same. But all lands and real estate thus entered upon, for materials or otherwise, which are not donations or owned by the company, shall be purchased by the said corporation of the owner or owners thereof, at a price to be agreed on mutually by the company and the owner or owners. In case of disagreement as to price, and before the taking any materials, or making any part of said road on said land in controversy, it shall be lawful for the commissioner, superintendent, or other authorised person or persons of said company, to apply to some justice of the county of St. Clair, who shall cause five freeholders to be summoned, who, after being sworn faithfully and impartially to examine the materials or ground, to be pointed out to them by the commissioner, superintendent, or other authorised person or persons, and reasonable notice having been given to the owner of the property, said freeholders shall assess the damages which they believe such owner or owners will sustain, over and above the additional value which such land will derive from the construction of such road, and make reports, signed by at least a majority of them, one of which they shall deliver to the commissioner, superintendent or other authorised person or persons requiring said view and assessment, and the other to the justice of the peace; and the amount of damages and cost being paid to the owner or owners, which shall have been assessed, or deposited with the justice of the peace, the road may be constructed, located, and materials taken. If either party shall be dissatisfied with the valuation, where lands are in question, an appeal may be taken within twenty days, to the circuit court of St. Clair county, by petition, setting forth the facts of the case, describing the land and premises, and the necessity of such land for making said rail road or track way, and the attempt and failure to purchase the same, with the name and residence of the owner of the same, and the reasons why the purchase cannot be made; and the circuit court aforesaid, acting and sitting as a court of chancery, shall direct such notice to the owner and parties as shall be deemed reasonable, of the time of hearing the parties; (Provided, that in case the appellee shall have had seven days previous notice of the taking of the appeal, no further notice shall be necessary, but said court shall proceed to hear and determine said case as speedily as practicable;) and upon proof of the service of notice of the appeal, and upon hearing the testimony of the parties, which may be taken orally or by deposition, it shall make such order and decree in the premises, as to it may seem proper and equitable, and may either increase or diminish the amount of damages assessed, or reject said petition altogether; and shall also make such order for the payment of costs as may be just and proper. It shall also order a conveyance of the land in controversy, to be made when the decree shall be complied with, on the part of the corporation. Whenever said order and decree shall be fully complied with on the part and behalf of said corporation, it shall be possessed of the land in controversy, and may enter upon and take possession of, and use the same for the purpose of said road. Where a difficulty shall arise as to the value of materials which may be needed to construct said work, or the amount of damages done to land by the agents of the company passing through said land in collecting materials aforesaid, there shall be no appeal to the circuit court: but in case the parties or either of them, shall be dissatisfied, and it shall appear to the justice that it is right, and necessary to justice, he may set aside the first valuation, (Provided the same shall be done within three days after the said valuation,) and appoint five other commissioners to appraise and value to materials or damages last aforesaid, whose award in the premises shall be final, and who shall apportion the costs as may appear just, on one or both of the parties. make such marks and monuments to indicate and perpetuate the lines and description of the said route or routes, doing no unnecessary injury to private or other property, and being liable for damages to the owner of any such lands or property for any injury that may be done thereto; and may also acquire and hold and possess, by purchase, devise, or voluntary grant from the general or state government, or from any corporation, company, individual or individuals, any lands and real estate within this state, to aid in the construction, maintenance and accommodation of said rail road, completely vesting in the said corporation, absolutely in fee simple, the same with power and authority in law to pledge, mortgage, bargain and sell, and convey the same, to aid in carrying into full effect the intents and objects of this act of incorporation; Provided, that the lands to be held by this corporation, during the time of the existence of this charter, shall be confined to such lands only as are indispensably necessary for the construction and maintenance and accommodation of the said rail road and appendages, not exceeding three hundred feet on each side of the centre line of the said rail road, and such other flats of lands as shall be necessary for the erection of ware houses, engine houses, workshops, stables and other buildings, on the route and at the termination of the said rail road; and all other lands and real estate whatsoever, in any manner howsoever acquired, shall be sold and disposed of by the said corporation, within fifteen years from and after the passage of this act; and no other lands and real estate shall be afterwards acquired by the said corporation; but all lands and real estate entered upon for materials or for the road way, which are not donated or owned by the company, shall be purchased by the corporation of the owner or owners thereof, at a price to be agreed on mutually, by the company and the owner or owners. In case of a disagreement as to price, and before taking any materials, or making any part of the said rail road on said land in controversy, it shall be lawful for the commissioner, engineer, superintendent, or other authorised person or persons of the said company, to apply to some justice of the peace, in and for the county in which the lands may be situated, who shall cause five freeholders, not interested in the lands or materials in controversy, or in any way likely to come into controversy, to be summoned; who, being sworn faithfully and impartially to examine the materials or grounds, to be pointed out to them by the commissioner, engineer, superintendent, or other authorised person or persons, and reasonable notice having been given to the owner or owners of the property, if known, and residing in the state, said freeholders shall assess the damages which they shall believe such owner or owners will sustain, over and above the additional value which such lands, or other lands of the same owners in the vicinity, will derive from the construction of the said rail road, and make a report, signed by at least a majority of them—one of which they shall deliver to the commissioner, engineer, superintendent, or other person or persons, requiring said view and assessments, and the other to the justice of the peace; and the amount of damages, if any, and the costs being paid to the owner or owners, or deposited with the clerk of the circuit court of the said county, for said owner or owners, the road may be forthwith located, constructed, and materials taken, without any let or hindrance by the said owner or owners, their heirs or assigns; and the circuit court of the proper county, acting and sitting as a court of chancery, in case no appeal is taken as hereinafter provided for, may order and direct a conveyance of the land, so indispensable and necessary to the construction and accommodation of the said rail road, to be made to the said corporation. If either party shall be dissatisfied with the valuation, where lands are in question, an appeal may be taken in thirty days, to the circuit court of the county in which the lands are situated, by petition, setting forth the facts of the case—describing the lands and the premises, and the necessity of such lands for making and maintaining said rail road and appendages, and the attempt and failure to purchase the same, with the name and residence of the owner or owners of the same, if known, and the reasons why the purchase cannot be made; and the circuit court aforesaid, acting and sitting as a court of chancery, shall direct such notice to the owner and parties, as shall be deemed reasonable, of the time of hearing the parties; Provided, that in case the appellee shall have seven days' notice of the taking of the appeal, no farther notice shall be necessary, but said court shall proceed to hear and determine said case as speedily as practicable; and upon proof of the service of notice of the appeal, and upon hearing the testimony of the parties, (which may be taken orally or by deposition,) it shall make such order and decree in the premises, as to it may seem proper and equitable; and may either increase or diminish the amount of damages assessed, or reject said petition altogether; and shall also make such order for the payment of costs, as shall be just and proper. It shall also order a conveyance of the land in controversy to be made to the corporation, when the decree of the court shall be complied with on the part of the corporation. Whenever said order and decree shall be fully complied with on the part and behalf of the said corporation, it shall be possessed of the land in controversy, and may enter upon and take possession of, and use the same for the purposes of the said road. Where a difficulty shall arise as to the value of materials, which may be needed to construct said work, or the amount of damages done by the agent of the company, passing through said land, in collecting materials aforesaid, there shall be no appeal to the circuit court: but in case the parties or either of them, shall be dissatisfied, and it shall appear to the justice that it is right and necessary to justice, he may set aside the first valuation, (Provided the same shall be done in three days after the return of the report of the freeholders,) and appoint five other commissioners, being freeholders, to appraise and value the materials or damages last aforesaid, whose award in the premises shall be final, and who shall apportion the costs as may appear just, on one or both of the parties.

SEC. 11. In case any married women, infant, idiot, or insane person, or non-resident of the state, who shall not appear after such notice, shall be interested in any such land or real estate, the circuit court, or justice of the peace, shall appoint some competent and suitable person to appear before said freeholders, or commissioners, or said circuit court, and act for and in behalf of such married woman, infant, insane person, idiot, or non-resident of the state.
